SPRING INTERCLASS TRACK MEET TOMORROW

Sophomores Should Win, With Juniors Second And Seniors Last

Saturday afternoon Technology Field will be the scene of what promises to be the fastest and most successful Spring Interclass Track meet in years. Since the middle of March the weather has been favorable, and although the attendance at practice has been at times disappointing to those who hope to see a championship team at Tech this year, some fast competition is assured for tomorrow.

The track is in first-class condition, and the grandstand is being brightened up for the occasion. A new judges' stand has been erected at the finish, and this will prove an advantage to those who pick the winners.

On account of the close competition in many of the events, it is particularly difficult to pick the winning class; but the sophomores should win by a close margin from the juniors, with the seniors in last place.

A somewhat complete "dope sheet" follows, and is liable to change without notice.

In the hundred, C. E. Trull 1913 will probably be the first man across the tape. He won this event in the 1912-1913 meet two weeks ago, and tomorrow he may better his time of 10 3-5 seconds. J. S. Grant 1912, W. C. Salisbury 1911 and M. A. Oettinger 1912 are also likely to place in the century sprint.

The high hurdles are sure to go to W. J. Pead 1910, who may break the Institute record of 16 2-5 seconds. G. B. Cumings 1910, J. S. Grant 1912, and A. W. Reid 1912 will probably place here.

If H. G. Watkins 1912 enters the mile run, there will be one of the best races ever seen at the Field, between this star cross-country man and L. O. Mills 1911. Watkins' distance, however, is the two-mile, and he probably will wait for that event. C. P. Eldred 1911 will make E. B. Germain 1913 and A. S. Milliken 1913 hustle to place in this race.

All the Penn Relay squad except J. D. White 1911 and Mills 1911 will enter the quarter mile. Salisbury 1911 looks to be the winner here, but R. H. Gould 1911 will make him run some. G. B. Cumings 1910, H. Lockett 1910, M. A. Oettinger 1912, and Reid 1912 may also place in the one lap dash.

Cumings 1910 will probably win the law hurdles, while Grant 1912 and

REVIEW OF TRIPS OF TECH SHOW 1910

Management Will Make Report At The Dinner On April 30th

Before a crowded house at Malden on Wednesday evening Tech Show 1910 was presented for the last time. It is now a thing of the past, and authors are already looking for themes for Tech Show 1911. Four times, twice in Boston, once in Northampton, and once in Malden has the Show appeeared.

On Friday afternoon the first performance was given in the new Shubert Theatre before an enthusiastic audience. On Saturday at 2 P. M. a special train of three coaches and a baggage car departed from the North Station via the Boston & Maine R. R., loaded with all members of the Show and scenery for Northampton. After a pleasant trip, during which the men played cards, smoked, sang or talked things over, the train arrived in Northampton about ten minutes of six and all were transported by special cars directly to the theatre.

There wigs and costumes were donned after a lunch supplied by the Union and all was in readiness for a good performance. The house was almost entirely occupied by Smith and Mt. Holyoke girls, assisted by Amherst and Technology men. The Show ended with some cheers for Smith after a regular "M. I. T." At about 12 midnight the train started back for Boston with a tired but happy crowd on board headed for home. Some of the cast and chorus stayed over Sunday in Northampton, but the majority came back on the special, arriving in Boston about 4 A. M.

The next performance was Monday afternoon at the Shubert where even a larger crowd than Friday turned out to see "The Queen of the Cannibal Isles" give its third presentation.

Again Wednesday a special car took the men out to Malden to prepare for the final performance that evening. A very successful evening passed, and with it Tech Show 1910.

A full business report will probably be submitted at the management dinner to the cast and chorus which is to be on the thirtieth of April in the Union. This dinner has always been the last meeting of the Show members as a whole, and is really the only truly social function enjoyed by participants in the Show. The good times are all talked over and a general spirit of content reigns among all after the conclusion of a successful year

LAST CALL FOR BOOKS

It is imperative that all men who have signed up for copies of Technique 1911 secure them as soon as possible, for on Monday at 4 P. M. the orders of the waitng list will be filled in the order of application. Then it will be a case of "first come first served" for the holders of the red tickets.

Regular office hours are now being held daily by members of the business staff. The office hours for the redeeming of red tickets are as follows: Friday, 8.30-9.00 A. M., 1-2 P. M., and 4-6 P. M.; Saturday, 8.30-9.00 A. M. and 12-2 P. M.; Monday, 8.30-9.00 A. M., and 1-2 P. M.

FORMER PRESIDENT OF TECH WRITES GOOD ARTICLE

Dr. H. S. Pritchett Discusses "The Evolution Of College Baseball

An article on "The Evolution of College Baseball," written by Mr. H. S. Pritchett, appeared in the April number of Scribners' Magazine. Mr. Pritchett was president of the Institute from 1900 to 1907 and what he has to say on the subject of college sports in general and college baseball in particular, is extremely interesting.

He has interested himself in college sports during the last thirty years, not only as an onlooker but also as a critic. He is strongly in favor of organized college athletics and regrets that any one should criticise them when he has not entered into any sport with that zest and enthusiasm that has caused many to find in it their greatest joy and pleasure. He is admirably well fitted to judge the merits of college baseball for he says himself, "had I accepted a position on a professional team I sometimes imagine I might have reached real fame."

Mr. Pritchett speaks in the warmest terms in praise of the good points of our national game. "To become a successful sport, a game must present a large opportunity for skill, it must afford a field for organization and cooperation and finally it must be a good game for the looker on. Baseball possesses more completely than any other of our organized sports all these qualifications." Considering this we may understand why college baseball has met with greater approbation and less bitter criticism from the American public, than football or any other college sport.

The baseball of colleges has always reflected the good and bad tendencies of the profesional game. It has developed with the latter along the lines of greater skil land accuracy and in fact,

TEXTILE EXHIBITION

Will Be Held At Mechanics Building Next Week

Of speeal interest to Institute men is the coming annual convention and exhibition of the Textile Exhibitors' Association, to be held in Mechanics Building all next week. The exhibition will provide one of the finest and most complete shows of textile machined and finished products ever held in New England.

As prospective engineers, Technology men will find particular interest in the new department which has been added this year by Manager Chester I. Campbell. This new department will be devoted entirely to cement and concrete concerns in the country have booked space in this department.

The exhibition will be held at the same time as the annual convention of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, the work of the latter convention being in affiliation with the Textile Exhibitors' Association.

The management has been most fortunate in securing as guests at the formal opening of the exhibition next Manday evenin, President Maclaurin of the Institute His Excellency Eben S. Draper, governor of Massachusetts, and other men prominent in educational and engineering circles.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of the Tech,

Sir:—The adverse criticism of the Show in Wednesday's Tech was an unpleasant surprise to the many who had enjoyed and appreciated the play. The writer of the article seemed to forget that the authors and actors were amateurs and not professionals, and failed to give them credit for their remarkable work in spite of their inexperience. The Tech should have refused to publish such an attack on the students' greatest activity no matter how true the article might have been.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Boston and vicinity—Fair and coler Friday, light variable winds.

Boston, April 22.—The "bar and bottle" bill will not become operative this year, as a result of the first victory for the liquor interests in the fight over this legislation. By a voice vote the Senate yesterday afternoon refused to enact the bill so that it could be sent to Gov. Draper, and postponed all further action on it until after May 1, when all the liquor licenses in the state have been granted.

Birmingham, Ala., April 22.—The forty men entombed in the Mulga mine of the Birmingham Railway Coal and Iron Company at Mulga, Alt., by an explosion, have been given up as dead. The cages in the shaft of the mine were so badly sprung by the force of the explosion that they are useless. A rescue party yesterday saw two dead bodies and reports that there is no chance of any miners being alive. Flames and goses drove back the rescuers.

Newburyport, April 22.—A. M. Herring made three successful flights yesterday in the Herring-Burgess bi-plane at the Plum Island aviation field. No attempt was made by Mr. Herring to attain a great height or to develop speed. During one of the flights, however, the bi-plane soared to the height of 60 feet and covered about 300 yards. The tests were made principally with a view of determining the starting and stopping qualities of the engine. The three flights were made without stopping the engine.

Westerly, R. I., April 22.—Disgruntled because a collector of the Textile Workers' Union was discharged, 125 weavers employed by the Lorraine Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of cotton goods, are out on strike. The collector, James Sisson, attempted to collect the union dues in the mill during working hours Monday, after the men had been paid, and was at once discharged.

INTERCLASS MEET

Trull 1913 will be probable point winners.

The half-mile is conceded to P. D. White 1911, the New England champion in this event. The other places are doubtful, but W. R. Bylund 1913, J. D. MacKenzie 1911, R. D. Sampson 1913 and B. Munch 1913 will make an interesting race for second place.

In the two-twenty yard dash, first place is hard to pick, but Salisbury 1911 and Gould 1911 will make someone run to reach the yarn ahead of them, while J. J. Strachan 1913, C. E. Trull 1913 and M. A. Oettinger 1912 will be in the furlong all the way.

1912 appears to have a clean sweep in the two mile. Watkins is a sure first, with E. E. Ferry, R. M. Ferry, H. S. Benson and K. Cartwright, all 1912, to pick up the remaining points.

The field events for tomorrow are particularly hard to forecast, but P. W. Dalrymple 1912 will probably win the high jump as E. Stuart, the crack senior jumper, has not been at the field much this spring. The other point winners here will probably be H. B. Alvord 1912, J. Becker 1912 and C. G. Fallon 1913.

In the broad jump, H. Greenleaf 1912, H. S. Gott 1911, B. Torrey 1913, and J. Becker 1912, all have a chance for first.

O. V. Chamberlin 1911 should win the shot-put, while Gott 1911, O. F. Benbow 1912, J. Becker 1912 and J. L. Bray 1912 are promising entries.

These same men, with N. D. MacLeod 1913, W. M. Ruby 1912 and N. Eichorn 1913 are entered in the hammer throw, and also the discus.

W. D. Allen 1911 will most probably win the pole vault, and H. Greenleaf 1912, R. S. Rankin 1913 and E. Mangan 1912 are possible entries for the other places.

The intercolegiate order of events will be adhered to in this meet.

EVOLUTION OF BASEBALL

the technique of the college game s almost a reproducton of that of the professional. In some ways, however, the weak and intrinsically bad points of professional ball have edged into the game in our colleges. Mr. Pritchett emphasizes particularly the unsavory professional habit of a continuation of a chorus of cries and calls on the part of the players. This has been most exactly aped by college men with the result that there is a decided air of rowdyism in many of the contests. "It is vulgar in the last extreme and college men ought to stop it."

Mr. Pritchett lays the blame of many of the abuses of college baseball on the shoulders of the professional coach. The methods of these men are thoroughly professional. They do much to place the game on a strictly commercial basis and above all attempt to change college baseball contests from affairs of friendly rivalry to serious affrays.

Of all the affectations of intercollegiate sports, Mr. Pritchett is most severe on the subject of so-called training tables. These he claims are part "of the regime of extravagance which come with big gate receipts, expensive coaches and extravagant tours. To emphasize his point he shows that the playing of West Point where athletics are carried on quietly and sanely is in no way inferior to that of other colleges of more pretentious habits.

In conclusion, Mr. Pritchett says that all our college baseball now needs is to be separated from professionalism and the vulgarity which professionalism brings. Then it will be restored to its former prestige and its old-time popularity.

COLLEGE NEWS.

Plans for advertising the University of Missouri in a novel way are being considered. Moving pictures will be taken of students arriving in Columbia and a series of activities on the campus and all phases of university life.

The following clipping, taken from the Wisconsin Cardinal, shows true baseball spirit: "The Waldorf Biscuit shooters do hereby challenge any other boarding house amateur baseball team in the city. No kennel club followers need apply, only respectable boarding houses."

In a recent inter-class basket ball game at Chicago University, one of the players was struck in the mouth and three teeth knocked out.

Marcies Allen of Sandy Hill, New York, left $10,000 to the Colgate chapter and $5,000 to the Union and New York chapters of the Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Orders have been issued by the military department of the University of Iowa to the effect that drill will be held three days a week, from 6 to 7 A. M.

Michigan is soon to have a $200,000 auditorium. The present hall is much too small.

The Cosmopolitan Club House at the University of Illinois was destroyed by fire recently. The loss is estimated at $25,000.

Hereafter the "Victory Bell" at Whitman College will be tolled for not more than five minutes to celebrate a victory for that institution. Formerly the big bell was often rung for an hour and proved very anioying to people living near by, especially when tolled during the midnight hours.

If a student in Dartmouth carries more than 15 hours' work he will receive credit for only those 15 hours in which he has the highest standing.

Indiana graduates now fill the President's chair in seven colleges. Three sons of one Bloomington man are professors, and one is a college president.

In order to become better acquainted with the students at Harvard President Lowell is having Sunday afternoon receptions.

The faculty at Miami has recently ruled that the editor of the college paper, the Miami Student, shall receive two hours' credit.
